

St. Mary's Catholic Church

Greenville, South Carolina

19 February 2017

Dear Friends in Christ,

“Be still and know that I am God.” This exhortation of Psalm 46 reveals the connection between sacred silence and being in the presence of the living God. Throughout Holy Scripture the prophets reveal the necessity of reverential silence as a condition for approaching the majesty and mercy of God, and the New Testament frequently speaks of the Lord Jesus seeking a quiet place to be in communion with His Father. For this reason, the Church exhorts us in a variety of ways to seek sacred silence in the liturgy, and that task becomes difficult or even impossible when parents bring to the liturgy children who are too young to remain quiet. So, given the importance of silence in the sacred liturgy, I ask everyone to be generous as I reach out to grab the third rail of ecclesial life: loud children in church.

There is no way to address this matter without offending someone's sensibilities, but as the shepherd of the flock it is my duty to ensure good order for all in the celebration of the sacred mysteries. And so I must firmly remind parents that children who are too young to remain quiet during the sacred liturgy are not yet ready to be in the church while Mass or (most especially) Vespers is being celebrated. Of course, we want our children to learn from earliest years to be at home in the House of God, but a child who regularly shatters the sacred silence of the liturgy is best kept at home with other family members who would attend another Mass, in the nursery provided in Sacred Heart Hall, in one of the cry rooms, or at least in one of the vestibules of the church with the double doors closed. Audio speakers are provided in the cry rooms and vestibules precisely so that parents tending small children can hear what is taking place in the church. Of course, from time to time even parents who are doing their best to observe these suggestions may find themselves in a pew with a recalcitrant child. When that happens, please head for the door sooner rather than later; such situations are almost never resolved quietly in the church, and the by the time the screaming rises to the rafters, nearly no one else in the building is still praying.

Now, to those without small children who are usually the first to notice the distraction caused by crying babies or troublesome toddlers: Please understand that the parents are doing their best to raise their children in the fear of the Lord, and bringing them into the precincts of the sacred liturgy is a part of that task. We should always be grateful for the gift of new life, even when that gift is squirming and shrieking in the next pew. Be patient, and offer your distraction to the Throne of Grace for the sake of all the babies who will never learn to love the Lord.

And to all: Let common sense, loving-kindness, and good humor prevail. We are all in this together, striving to follow the Lord as His pilgrim people, in the service of which we need to heed His command: “Be still and know that I am God.”

St. Mary's 101 - Morning Assembly, Part 4: Glory Be

*Glory Be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.
As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end. Amen*

A couple of weeks ago, we learned about the term doxology as we discussed the Our Father. Doxology is a short hymn of praise to God. The Glory Be (Gloria Patri in Latin) is known as the minor (or shorter) doxology in the Catholic Church.

Though it is short, this hymn of praise is an astonishing profession of faith. As we pray it, we declare that God is magnificent and one who we ought to take pleasure in. It proclaims belief in the Triune nature of God. God is three distinct persons in one divine nature.

"[T]he whole Christian life is a communion with each of the divine persons, without in any way separating them. Everyone who glorifies the Father does so through the Son in the Holy Spirit; everyone who follows Christ does so because the Father draws him and the Spirit moves him" (Catechism of the Catholic Church paragraph 259).

Finally, the Glory Be expresses our belief that God has always existed and will always exist.

Class Feature - Cheerful Club

Mrs. Carpin's first grade students have formed a purely voluntary Cheerful Club in honor of the virtue and saint of the month. St. John Bosco started a Cheerful Club when he was in school. Every student decided to participate!

This week, students have been delivering welcome cards and ducks to our new Connolly family students in grades K5, 2nd, and 6th. They also delivered candy hearts to teachers, staff members, and Father Newman. Club members filled Valentine bags of cheer for children at the Shriner's Hospital for Children.

Later this month, the cheerful club will be writing cheerful letters to our Marine Corp members in the Wounded Warriors Battalion at Camp Lejeune, NC. Mrs. Carpin's father, Captain Vincent A. Sordello, USMC Retired, is very involved in this organization.

Vespers at Prince of Peace - Taylors
