Greenville, South Carolina

27 August 2017

Dear Friends in Christ,

Common + Unity = Community.

The things we have in common, do in common, and love in common both help produce human unity and flow from it. We all naturally desire an experience of community with other people, and when the things which we hold in common are noble and uplifting, then the experience of doing in them in common enriches us all. This can be as simple as being in a large stadium for a sporting event and pulling for the home team or as complex as a group of people responding to the challenge of a natural disaster.

But within all large communities are smaller communities. States have counties, and cities have neighborhoods. Dioceses have deaneries, and deaneries have parishes. And within each parish there are distinct communities. At St Mary's, for example, we have the families in our parochial school and the families who home school; we have the singers in our several choral groups and the volunteers who visit the sick; we have scouting programs for the young and fellowships for adult men and women. All of these and many other groups in our parish are distinct communities within the same spiritual family, and belonging to one of these smaller communities greatly enhances the experience of being part of the larger community. So, when I hear someone say that it is difficult to find a sense of community in a large parish, my first questions are: What group have you joined? What task have you volunteered for? What event have you attended? What activity have you helped organize? In many ways we make our own sense of community by showing up, lending a hand, identifying a need, and offering to do more.

There was a time in living memory when the local parish was the social hub as well as the spiritual home for most Catholics. CYO dances, Mardi Gras balls, weeklong missions preached by visiting priests, parish picnics and spaghetti suppers, the 40 Hours devotion, sodalities of every kind for the women, and the Holy Name Society or Knights of Columbus for the men. These and many other expressions of community life may still exist in one form or another, but the social context in which we now live is so fundamentally different and the opportunities for doing other things in our spare time are so numerous, that the ways in which earlier generations of Catholics experienced community in their parishes no longer touch most Catholics today. And for that reason we need to shape new ways to experience community, and the first way is to stop thinking of the parish as a place where we go to get something we need - like stopping by the market on the way from work to home - and start thinking of it as a place we go to give everything we have to others. We give first to God, and then we give to all others for God's sake. From there, we will find new ways to experience community if we look for them and take the initiative. So let's get started. This Sunday introduce yourself to someone you see at Mass each week but whose name you don't know, and do it again the next week to another person. In short order, no one among us will lack for a feeling of community.

The Catholic Field Guide to Protestantism

Have you ever wondered what exactly your Protestant neighbor believes and how best to explain Catholicism to them? 31 October 2017 is the 500th Anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, and we are using this opportunity to go through the history of Protestantism in order to better understand what exactly they believe. Over 12 weeks we will be going through the history and belief of all the major Protestant denominations so you can know how to explain the Catholic faith to each specific denomination. So join us and learn how to better understand and engage your Protestant friends or family.

How to Read the Bible

Are you constantly hearing Fr. Newman encouraging Catholics to read their Bible but don't know where to start? Perhaps you already faithfully read the scriptures but feel like you could get more out of it. If so, this course is for you. Reading scripture is one of the fundamental ways by which Christians come to better know and grow deeper in friendship with the Lord Jesus. Over 12 weeks we will be using the Dogmatic Constitution on Divine Revelation (Dei Verbum) from the Second Vatican Council as a guide and framework by which any Christian can learn how to read the Bible according to the mind of the Church.

An Introduction to Catholicism

What is Catholicism?

Is the Catholic Faith in the Bible?

Did the Lord Jesus found the Catholic Church?

Our course called An Introduction to Catholicism is designed to answer these and many other questions about the origins of Catholic Christianity and the shape of Christian faith and life within the Catholic Church.

The classes meet on Wednesday evenings from 6.30 to 8.00 pm from Labor Day through Easter, and all are invited to come and discover what it means to be a disciple of the Lord Jesus in His holy Catholic Church.

Introduction to the Year of Charity

The theological virtue of charity is given to us in baptism. It allows us to love God with all our heart, mind, and strength, and our neighbor as ourselves. Like any other virtue, we must grow in charity by practicing charity. Saint Paul reminds us that no matter how great or how glorious our deeds, if the lack of charity, these good deeds are empty, while Saint John reminds us that the true test of our love for God is how we treat our neighbor.

Helping children grow closer to Jesus by imitating the virtues of the saints!

The Virtues in Practice Year of Charity seeks to foster love of God and love of neighbor. Scripture and tradition teaches us to protect the weak (virtue of fortitude) and to have respect for every individual. . . . Contrary to the popular meaning of the word "charity", study of Virtues in Practice this year is not limited to service projects, food collections, or other social justice outreach. We focus not on loving people on the other side of the globe, but on loving the person next to us – which is usually more difficult.

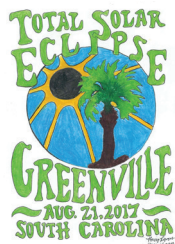

Developing charity requires divine grace and is best learned by a good example: first, by learning to better know and love God Who is Love, and secondly, by parents and teachers who model a life of charity. Let us strive together to love our neighbor by speaking of others only in kindness, especially within in the hearing of children. Recognizing that aggressive behavior is, in many ways, a spiritual problem engrained in our culture, members of the school community are strongly encouraged to join together to pray this year for all the school's efforts to deepen in the virtue of charity. The graces from this prayer are needed to open hearts, to protect leaders, and to beg the healing that only Our Lord can provide. Above all, let us show the children that God is first and foremost in our lives, by developing our own habits of daily prayer, weekly Mass, and eliminating any obstacles in our relationship with God.

To review the parent portions of the program, please use the following link: Virtues in Practice Parent Guide.
