

St Mary's Catholic Church

Greenville, South Carolina

9 September 2018

Dear Friends in Christ,

Being a follower of Christ requires moving from being a Church member by convention to a Christian disciple by conviction. This transformation demands that we consciously accept the Gospel as the measure of our entire lives, rather than attempting to measure the Gospel by our experience. Personal knowledge of and devotion to Sacred Scripture is necessary for this transformation to occur through the obedience of faith, and there is no substitute for personal knowledge of the Bible. Ignorance of the Scriptures is ignorance of Christ. This is the Seventh Principle of Evangelical Catholicism.

Do you read the Bible at home? Do you consult a Bible dictionary or commentary to help guide your reading? Do you set aside time even once each week to pray with Holy Scripture? Can you recite any verses of Scripture from memory? Do you know that the Catholic Church teaches that every word in the Bible is inspired by God and contains no errors in matters of faith and morals? Do you believe this to be true? If not, do you understand that you are not in full communion with the Catholic Church? These questions help focus our attention on some of the practical consequences of the Sixth Principle of Evangelical Catholicism. Even those who desire to surrender their entire lives to the Lord Jesus in the obedience of faith cannot do this unless they read, believe, and reverence the Bible, because as St. Jerome (who first translated the entire Bible from Hebrew and Greek into Latin) teaches us: Ignorance of the Scriptures is ignorance of Christ.

The Second Vatican Council devoted one of its sixteen documents to the subject of divine revelation, and it explores the relationships among Sacred Scripture, Sacred Tradition, and the Magisterium of the Church. This document is called Dei Verbum (Latin for "The Word of God") and is known in English as The Dogmatic Constitution on Divine Revelation. Dei Verbum is only a few pages in length and is available online. I heartily encourage all Catholics to study Dei Verbum as a means to understanding why there is no substitute for personal knowledge of the Bible.

"All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be competent, equipped for every good work." (2 Timothy 3.16) "For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart." (Hebrews 4.12) The devout reading of Holy Scripture does much more than teach us; it changes us. Reading Holy Scripture changes us in a way that no other form of reading can because when we open the Sacred Page with faith, the Lord speaks to us a word of grace and power unto repentance, conversion, and everlasting life. Immerse yourself in Holy Scripture, and in the Word of God you will come to know, love, and serve ever more perfectly the Word Made Flesh: the Lord Jesus Christ.

OFFICE OF THE BISHOP

August 2018

My Dear Friends in Christ,

Today, I appeal to you to give generously to the National Collection for The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. As the only institution of higher education founded by the U.S. bishops and chartered by the Vatican, Catholic University is the national university of the Catholic Church, charged with educating the future leaders of the Church, the nation, and the world.

- Catholic University serves the Church by engaging its students to discover knowledge and truth through excellence in teaching and research. The University continues to expand its academic and research offerings and hire faculty who bring world-class research and teaching talents to the classrooms and laboratories for almost 7,000 students. Through new programs in business and music, classical architecture, intelligence studies, neuroscience, Spanish language and Hispanic ministry, social service, and Catholic clinical bioethics, the University strives to be the voice of our Church in response to the issues facing society today.
- Catholic University trains the leaders of the Church. Through its national seminary, the University provides graduate degrees for seminarians sponsored by numerous Catholic dioceses in the U.S. More than one-third of all the active and emeritus bishops and archbishops in the country are Catholic University alumni, including five of the six sitting cardinal archbishops. The University's business and theology schools offer a unique Management as Ministry program to provide seminarians and newly ordained priests with a foundational understanding of business best practices, including the essentials of finance, management and accounting centered on virtue and ministry.
- Catholic University is helping to respond to shifts in the country's Catholic population. The University is assisting the U.S. Bishops with the Fifth National Encuentro aimed to serve Latino families and communities. Your gift will strengthen and broaden the education of those who will lead the future Church.

This National Collection is critically important to the operation of the University and to the growing needs of the Church nationally and locally. If you care about the culture and its influencers, if you care about Catholic higher education, and if you care about the future of the Church in America, I urge you to care about Catholic University. Thank you for your support.

In the Lord's Peace,

Most Reverend Robert E. Guglielmo
Bishop of Charleston

All classes begin the first week of September

Introduction to Catholicism (Wednesdays 6.30-7.30 pm)

- Instructor: T.J. Nielsen
- What is Catholicism? Is the Catholic Faith in the Bible? Did the Lord Jesus found the Catholic Church? Our course called An Introduction to Catholicism is designed to answer these and many other questions about the origins of Catholic Christianity and the shape of Christian faith and life within the Catholic Church.
- Contact T.J. Nielsen to register at timothy.nielsen@stmarysgvl.org

Knowing Jesus (Wednesdays 6.30-7.30 pm)

- Instructor: Dr. Joe Beauchemin

Answering this question and discovering who Jesus is, not only gets to the heart of what it means to be a Christian but what it means to be a human being. This course will look at Jesus by examining the 4 gospels with the purpose of knowing Jesus theologically and personally.
- No Registration Required

Forming Your Moral Imagination (Tuesdays 8.30-9.30 am)

- Instructors: T.J. Nielsen and Tony Owens

Join us as we delve into the topic the Moral Imagination as exemplified in the works of great Catholic writers such as J.R.R. Tolkien, Russel Kirk and Flannery O'Connor, and see how it can serve as an enduring source of inspiration that elevates us to first principles as it guides us upwards towards virtue and wisdom and redemption.

Social Ministries at St Mary's

Social Ministries at St Mary's introduces members of our parish community who are working to make our world a better place by serving those in need. If you or someone you know would like to be featured, please contact Deacon John at the Office of Social Ministries below.

Our first bulletin spotlight focused on the work being done to mentor at risk children in our area. Unfortunately, situations sometimes get beyond the scope of mentoring. When a child may be in danger of abuse, neglect, or harm, the office of Child Protective Services must step in to investigate and protect the child. By law, every child that is put into DSS/CPS custody in the state of South Carolina must be assigned a volunteer advocate who will speak for the child and make recommendations to help the judge make an informed decision about a child's future. These volunteers provide a stable presence in a child's life, remaining on each case until the child finds a safe, permanent home. They are known as a Guardian ad litem -

Meet Susanne Wolfe

Susanne volunteers as Guardian ad Litem for children in Greenville County. "As a GAL," Susanne told me, "I get to meet children who are in difficult situations. After learning about their particular case, I get to meet with them in order to get to know them, to work with them, and to build their trust and respect." In South Carolina, children are not present in court when decisions about their futures are being made. GAL volunteers bridge that gap and tell the judge what children want, without children having to experience trauma in a courtroom setting. Susanne went on: "It is very rewarding to see a child receive the care and love they need and find a safe environment for them either by return to their parents or with Foster Care or adoption. Volunteering as a GAL, I have learned a lot about a part of life that I was totally unaware of. It has taken me out of my comfort zone and at the same time has given me great comfort knowing that I am helping these children to gain a home where they are treated with love and care. Sometimes you see children reunite with parents who have learned from their mistakes and are capable of understanding and wanting to change for the sake of their children. That is the ultimate goal – to reunite children with their family. There are times when that is not possible, so as a GAL I assist the child and the system in finding better alternatives for the child. I have been greatly blessed and honored to work with these children. I honestly feel that I was called by Our Lord to serve in this position."

Volunteers receive approximately 30 hours of training by Guardian ad Litem staff to learn how to work with the children, the DSS and the rules that the advocates must follow. Each GAL volunteer is supported by a GAL supervisor/case worker whenever questions arise. Continuing education is also a part of the program.

If you are at least 18 years old and want to learn more about becoming a mentor, or, if you are interested in any volunteer opportunities at our church or in our community, please contact Deacon John Heuser at john.heuser@stmarysgvl.org or 864.679.4113. Deacon John will help you to get involved, be engaged and become a source of blessing as you answer our Lord's call to serve those in need..
